

FF UHK Dean's Decree No. 8/2018

Call for Junior Research Positions at FF UHK

This FF UHK Dean's Decree intends to support early career researchers via funding full-time junior research positions with the duration of 1 to 2 years.

Eligibility:

Applicant must be

a) a holder of a Ph.D. degree who has completed the degree no later than 3 years before the application deadline (specified below). The period does not include the time spent on a parental leave, or

b) a doctoral student shortly before the completion of a Ph.D. degree who meets the following requirements: a) his/her dissertation thesis defence is scheduled to take place in 2018 and b) the applicant has already obtained high-quality research results.

Selection criteria:

- Academic and research profile of the applicant - including publications, international experience and participation in research grants/projects.
- Quality of a research proposal/project and feasibility of the related work plan.
- Relevance of the project in relation to areas of research covered by the academic departments of FF UHK, including political science, historical sciences, archeology, sociology, social and cultural anthropology and philosophy (in view of this, the project should be pre-consulted with and accepted by the head of a department of FF UHK that covers the relevant area of research).
- Quality and feasibility of expected outcomes with preference for the articles published in the international journals indexed in the databases Web of Science or Scopus or the monographs (eventually chapters in edited Volumes) published by standard international publishers.

Salary:

- Monthly gross salary (before tax): 35 000 CZK (full-time position).

Applications:

Complete applications must include:

- A Curriculum Vitae of the applicant written in English (max. 3 pages).
- A complete list of publications (where available, DOI of the articles or links to websites);
- A research proposal written in English, including a work and publication plan scheduled into 1 or 2 years (max. 2 pages). (max. 4 pages);
- A cover letter written by the candidate to indicate why he/she applies for the position, including justification of how his/her project relates to research areas covered by FF UHK and the name of the department with which the applicant intends to cooperate (max. 1 page).
- If the applicant does not have a Ph.D. degree by the date of submission of the application, he/she should attach a reference letter issued by his/her doctoral supervisor (or by the chairperson of the doctoral study program) certifying that he/she will defend dissertation thesis in 2018).

Submission:

Complete application package (a single PDF file including all the required documents mentioned above) should be submitted via email to the contact person:
