

UNIVERSIDAD
MAYOR DE SAN SIMÓN
Ciencia y Conocimiento desde 1832

If someone had told me a year ago that I would become a student in the University of Hradec Králové, one of the best universities in Czech Republic, and even give the opportunity to meet extraordinary people from all over the world, I wouldn't have believed it. However, today with UHK all of this became a reality.

One of the first things I did after arriving in Hradec Králové was going to see the University. The first glance at the modern and elegant that is the university was enough to embrace how long and important the history of Czech Republic is. I felt greatly honored to have a chance to study in such a place.

This semester I study at the Faculty of Philosophy, in the international program. For me, one huge difference between a usual university life in Bolivia State University and Erasmus+ student life is the group size and its national composition. Whereas my home university group is quite small and not very diverse, here there are usually more than 40 students from various nationalities attending similar lectures with me. My new classmates were students from Kenya, Taiwan, Argentine, Korea, Peru, Cyprus, Spain, Venezuela, Mexico, Ukraine etc. Thanks to this every day I have been learning a lot of new and interesting things not only during classes, but also from talking with new friends from different countries.

I also want to share my impressions of the educational process. Time on lectures passes quickly, professors try to present materials in an international context, explaining it with help of examples and events happening in the modern global politics. From the entire course of disciplines my favorite one is History of Central European Culture, by professor Ondřej, with him we learned the basic notions of architecture, music, painting among others from central Europe in the past and nowadays.

For the remaining period of academic mobility I plan to improve my Czech language and travel more around Czech Republic, full of breathtaking landscapes and medieval cities.

And finally, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to the coordinators at the University of Hradec Kralove for being very kind and welcoming! I know that my semester of exchange participation is an experience that I will never forget!
