

I did not believe that my stay at UHK would lead me to meeting incredible people in my life, it has been five months since I arrived at Hradec Králové and I can assure that the city, the country and the university did not disappoint me.

Many are the experiences lived here, however, the activities carried out by the University of Hradec Králové, and especially the Cosmopolity Project is one of the best experiences of this academic exchange. To be invited to teach Czech students about Mexico, about our gastronomy and traditions is an indescribable joy, even more when the kids have notions of Mexico, not only the TV and films stereotypes created by North American media enterprises, but their actual knowledge of Mexico it's the greatest satisfaction I take home with me.

This experience taught me that being a teacher is not an easy task and it becomes more complicated when there is an idiomatic barrier in between, however, the mutual teaching is the enrichment of this
