I really enjoyed my stay here, and I'd like to thank everyone involved for making this exchange such a pleasant experience. The administrative and logistical support was always available, helpful, and welcoming. As for the dormitory, it was great, the reception staff were perfect, though it would have been a little more convenient if they could speak english, it was still very good. The accommodations were well-maintained and clean, maybe a bit small, but for an erasmus stay, that wasn't a big issue. It was great that the ESN organized so many activities, which made it easy to make friends. I loved the country and its culture, even though, as a vegetarian, it wasn't always easy to find local specialties without meat. The small villages are beautiful, and I found the close cultural ties with Poland very interesting. Before coming, I was told that erasmus students often stick together and don't easily mix with locals. In the end, I learned a lot more about Germany, Poland, Ukraine, and Latin America. I guess that's also part of the Erasmus experience. The professors were very kind and attentive, especially my Czech and English teachers, who were deeply involved in their courses and encouraged us to explore the Czech Republic, giving us lots of advice. Socially, I made several friends, not just French, but also international students. Palachova had a almost village-like feel because we often ran into each other there. I also really appreciated having access to a piano and a ping-pong table. I visited Prague many times, and I think it's my favorite capital in terms of beauty. I found the city incredibly beautiful, with a great atmosphere, especially because of its proximity to nature. This is also something I loved about Hradec Králové, I often took walks in the huge park right next to Palachova. I think that covers the essentials. Once again, thank you to the entire administrative team and ESN for making this immersion possible. You never feel alone or left to fend for yourself, so thank you for that! I'm happy to now know this country from the inside.
